Consumer Electronics Show – Las Vegas

“Manufacturing the Future: Energy, Mobility, AI” Panel Discussion with JobsOhio

1/7/26

How is Ohio State ensuring its students, the future workforce, are up to speed on the latest manufacturing technologies?

- AI Fluency initiative – every student, regardless of major, will be “AI fluent” by the time they graduate. We know AI is transforming manufacturing, so we’re working to adapt our curriculum to ensure every graduate is ready to compete and lead on Day 1.
- Hiring 100 new faculty with AI expertise to complement 300 experts already on campus – first cohort expected to join us in fall 2026 – they will help us integrate AI throughout our academic enterprise.
- We’re also offering AI courses to local businesses who want to learn how to improve their business outcomes with AI.
- Our Center for Design and Manufacturing Excellence in the College of Engineering works with companies and researchers to turn new technologies into real-world manufactured products. Students get hands-on experience integrating the latest technologies to meet customer needs. It’s a win for our customers and for the workforce.

- Students employed by CDME work on real customer projects (programming robotic systems, developing medical devices, leveraging 3D printing techniques, and so on). They're working in an environment that will look like their experience after graduation.
- AI is a big part of what we do at CDME. We have an Artificially Intelligent Manufacturing Systems Division where students and researchers use AI and machine learning to develop and improve manufacturing processes using robotics.
- CDME has partnered with more than 150 companies so far. Projects are executed in a 45,000-square-foot manufacturing facility which houses $20 million in industrial-scale equipment. As we say, "You can't fake real"... we're giving our students real-world experience to produce market-ready technologies for real businesses.
- To give one recent example... Medical students working together with faculty in the Center for Design and Manufacturing Excellence are using 3D-printed models to improve the precision of cancer removal for head and neck cancer patients whose cancer has invaded the bone. You can create a 3D model of a patient's jaw, for example, to help surgeons pinpoint the exact location of the cancer so they can remove it with greater precision. This has major impacts for improving patients' outcomes – more precise jaw surgery helps protect their speech, chewing and swallowing functions – and ultimately saving lives.

How are universities like OSU partnering with corporations to align education with innovative companies?

- We have a goal to make sure EVERY student has an experiential learning opportunity before they graduate – be it an internship, service learning, study abroad or something else. Our close partnerships with industry are key to making this happen.
- We co-locate with leading companies and startups to make sure our faculty, students and industry experts are working side-by-side to create jobs, technologies and economic growth. For e.g., one of our most exciting initiatives – the Innovation District – is a partnership between Ohio State, the City of Columbus and JobsOhio – home to university research and academic centers, startups, companies and nonprofits.
- Leading companies have donated equipment (like metal 3D printers) and financial support to ensure our students have access to the latest technologies – GE, Honda, Siemens and others. Other companies work with us to create unique partnerships where our students work side-by-side with their employees... which creates a robust workforce pipeline.
- Our students tell us they feel more prepared going into interviews and jobs because they get experience working directly with industry on real-world projects while still in school. We like to say that for Ohio State graduates, their first day on the job feels more like a promotion than onboarding.

There will also be a service project that morning (details forthcoming). The conference will conclude on Saturday evening, January 10, with the Student Veterans Ball.

Good morning President Carter,
I am working on updating your travel for next week and wanted to see what your preference is for traveling to Colorado Springs on the 9th. You do have approval to use NetJets for this if that is preferred. Once I hear from you, I will work to get this piece taken care of and get all the updated information to you.

Hope you had a nice holiday!

Dear Members of the Board,

As you begin making plans to join us for the 18th Annual NatCon we want to share key details to help with your travel and registration.

Dates and Location

Dates: January 8–10, 2026

Location: Broadmoor Resort and Convention Center

1 Lake Avenue, Colorado Springs, CO 80906

Programming Overview

To help with your arrival and departure planning, please note that programming will begin at 11:00 a.m. on Thursday, January 8, with the Hiring Our Heroes Employment Summit. There will also be a service project that morning (details forthcoming). The conference will conclude on Saturday evening, January 10, with the Student Veterans Ball.

While there will not be a formal board meeting this year, we will plan to do something together (we will make it fun, memorable and in support of the mission!). I also encourage you to participate in as much of the conference as possible. NatCon remains an unparalleled opportunity to connect directly with student veterans, chapter leaders, and partners who share our commitment to supporting their success.

Members of the Board will receive a list of sponsor and exhibitor booths to personally visit and present an SVA challenge coin as a gesture of appreciation. In addition, I invite you each to join me for the SVA Chair's Reception on Friday, January 9, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. We are also working to identify an opportunity for meaningful board engagement during the conference once we have a better understanding of arrival and departure plans. Please be sure to share your travel details with Leslie or Jared to help us coordinate scheduling and logistics.

Registration

Board members receive complimentary registration. Please register under the Non-Profit/Government category using the code BOARD26 at checkout.

- Register Here
- NatCon Website

Hotel

Rooms at the Broadmoor are available through SVA's reserved room block at a discounted rate. Early booking is strongly encouraged.

- Book Your Hotel

Leslie Deslis (copied) can assist with hotel reservations or registration questions. If you'll be traveling with family, please send a note to Leslie or Jared so we can ensure appropriate accommodations at the Broadmoor.

Schedule

The full schedule is available below, with detailed session information coming soon.

- View Schedule

Please reach out to Jared, Leslie, or me with any questions as you finalize your plans. I look forward to seeing you in Colorado Springs and celebrating another remarkable year of impact together.

Scott

Since we did not get a quick response from the event organizers and I am currently in the office, I called the Venetian. The JobsOhio event organizers did not tell us we needed to pay the first night's fee/guarantee. We thought it was going on their card used for the reservation in their block. I gave the Venetian the president's pcard over the phone so they could charge the first night's fee/guarantee and put his card on file. A new email should be going to the president's name.# email confirming the payment/reservation. The president will still need to present his pcard at check in.

Thanks,

Good afternoon, Brian,

President Carter is available and would like to accept your invitation to be a guest speaker at the banquet on May 17. I am moving President Carter to BCC and adding his executive administrator, DiAnn Hamilton, as we work through next steps. Can you share answers to the following questions as we navigate logistics?

1. Will there be any engagements the day before?
2. What time will he need to report for the banquet?
3. How long will he need to speak during the banquet and do you need to review his remarks in advance?
4. Do you coordinate accommodations and travel or have recommendations?

Thank you,
Hannah

Good afternoon, President Carter,

We have the pleasure of working with Krisanthe Vlahos in supporting Veterans working in the power utility industry, more specifically with electric cooperatives. I'm blessed to represent 16 electric cooperatives in Virginia, Maryland and Delaware, and we host the Gaff-n-Go Lineworker Rodeo each year <https://www.gaff-n-go.com/>. The event continues to grow as we have teams from all over the country that participate, including some from the military. After two full days of competition the event wraps up with an awards banquet, where we like to feature a guest speaker.

This email is to ask if you would consider being our guest speaker at this year's banquet. It is going to be held on Saturday, May 17th at the Greater Richmond Convention Center in Virginia from approximately 6:00pm – 9:00pm. We would be honored if you were able to join us and over 1000 of our lineworkers and friends.

Please let us know if this is something you would be interested in and could work into your busy schedule.

Best Regards,
Brian
